Govt of Ireland - IES Scholar Scholarship

Question 1: What is the benefit of becoming a GOI-IES Scholar, to yourself (personally and professionally), to Ireland, and your country of origin? (15 marks) MAX 500 WORDS *

Amid a ravaging pandemic, while most people are shocked with its very advent and the limitations of the health sector, the scientific community isn't. The catastrophe such as COVID-19 has shown green shoots right from the turn of the last century yet the health care sector is still playing catch up; even to the future pandemics which in all probability, will happen.

The purpose of my advanced education is to develop proactive rather than reactive mechanisms in the Drug Discovery and Development Sector. The constant growth of super immune pathogen diversity can be encountered only with a preventive approach and through a rigorous study of pathogen toxicity. The Clinical Research Program at the University of Ireland, Galway is an eminent centre to equip an esoteric knowledge bank of Pharma-Covigilance; to the milieu of the clinical research framework, clinical data evaluation methods, drug discovery compliance and translational medicine. The research is a continuation of my work done at the prestigious Tata Consultancy Services, Mumbai.

My inherent academic interest lies in the realm of Clinical Research whilst analysing the safety and efficacy of new drug molecules and excelling as a distinguished researcher in the field. To this ambition, I aspire to be a GOI-IES Scholar for the enablement of unmitigated educational experience not subjugated under issues akin to personal finance. I have procured a loan to continue my education in Ireland and the reward will nullify its need.

Through the privilege of studying in Ireland, I am driven to benefit all stakeholders throughout this program. The reward will ensure my unperturbed learning and avid participation in cultural and voluntary initiatives. I am committed to being a major proponent of 'Study in Ireland' cause encouraging my indigenous brethren through digital media and simultaneously I plan to make Irish privy to the glory of Indian Culture, even curating guided trips to experience the heritage.

The scholarship, while is a validation of my prolonged diligence in academia, will gratify me both personally and professionally. I am earnestly committed to pursuing it for the good of my knowledge and the greater good of humanity.

Govt of Ireland - IES Scholar Scholarship

As a GOI-IES Scholar, how will you extend yourself beyond your project/studies to become actively involved in Irish society to maximize your academic/cultural exchange experience and raise awareness of the GOI-IES scheme in Ireland and beyond? (15 marks) MAX 500 WORDS *

Through a seamless learning experience, I intend to collaborate profusely with the peer community at the campus and off it. Student Volunteering Programs such as ALIVE - NUI appeal to me in particular for the outreach and impact they create. I am eager to give back to the Irish Society at large, with my distinct set of education and experiences.

At campus, I will join the student's union and exploit the opportunity to organise and influence events with the mindfulness of publicizing the immense values of the GOI-IES program. I am certain that I will be able to strategically contribute to the ethnic plurality at the Galway campus, interact with the diverse communities while developing my transferable and tangible skills.

Being an international student from India, I will also join the Indian Student Association in Ireland, further canvassing the cause of Ireland's rich cultural legacy and the visible benefits of the GOI scholarship program.

While raising awareness about the GPI-IES mission objectives in my home country through Facebook and Instagram outreach and the Association's website, I will be taking the onus of my responsibilities as a program ambassador, ever willing and networking to participate in podcasts, e-seminars to vocally representing the program at many more such avenues. I am certain that through my active communication and networking capabilities; leveraging my base in India, I will ensure the program's popularity and its prevalence amongst progressive students in India who aspire to study in Ireland and abroad
